Islam and Higher Education
Concepts, Challenges and Opportunities
By Marodsilton Muborakshoeva

Series: Routledge Contemporary South Asia Series

This book is the first study to qualitatively explore the concepts of higher education in Muslim contexts. It examines the different concepts of ‘a university’ and the way they shape practice in Muslim contexts, with a particular focus on the Islamic republic of Pakistan. Contributing to theoretical debates and discussing practical challenges that universities in Muslim countries face, the author analyses seven higher education institutions in Pakistan. She argues that there is a need for institutions to constantly review their mission and aims and objectives in light of the wider economic, political, and socio-cultural and religious development of a society.

The book reviews the history of higher education institutions and examines opportunities for some Pakistani universities, to become centres of excellence in the future. This is subject to adequate support from the government, industries, philanthropists and the society at large. In return, these universities would have to cater to the needs of the society, from basic needs in the areas of health and education to science and technology.

Islam and Higher Education breaks new grounds in the field of higher education in Muslim contexts and will be of interest to researchers in the fields of comparative education and Islamic Studies.

Table of Contents

Author Biography

Marodsilton Muborakshoeva is a Lecturer of the Secondary Teacher Education Program, a joint programme of the Institute of Ismaili Studies and the Institute of Education, University of London, UK. Her research interest are the history and philosophy of higher education, comparative education, education in the developing world, teacher education, research methods and Islamic studies.

August 2012 | Hardback: 978-0-415-68750-8: $145.00 $116.00 – £85.00 £68.00

For more information or online ordering, visit www.routledge.com/9780415687508/ and enter discount code MRJ62 at the checkout to claim your discount. Offer expires 31/12/2012.
To pay by credit card, please visit: www.routledge.com/9780415687508/

Or find your local customer service department’s phone number and email address to the right.